The President

Dr. Horace N. Barker

President Barker has seen many changes at Hiwassee. From swimming pool to natatorium, from dairy barn to stable, and from locked doors to core-keys. He received his education from these institutions: Brothers College; A.A., Pfeiffer College; B.A., University of Chattanooga; B.D., M.A., Drew University; D.D., Emory and Henry College; D.D., University of Chattanooga. Collecting arrowheads is one of the many hobbies of our President. These hobbies include: game hunting, camping, fishing, hiking and, as some of you may know if you've looked out your window about 7:00 A.M., jogging.

Bahama Trip . . . Cancelled

After all of the mushrooms were picked — after all of the concessions were sold — after almost anything goes was gone — the Sophomores found out that they could not go to the Bahamas after all. What followed was a series of meetings to decide whether to (1) Fly to Nassau and stay in a motel (2) Go to Daytona Beach (3) Stay here and go to class. Finally the decision was made and Daytona was their destination . . . but really, isn't it who you are with rather than where you are anyway?

But Daytona Was Good!

Just a couple of beach bums.

Russ and Robin enjoy the rays.

Hi, having a wonderful time, wish you were here.

Rhode Island with a "FRO".

I promise Dean, it's just Coke.

David — you wouldn't!

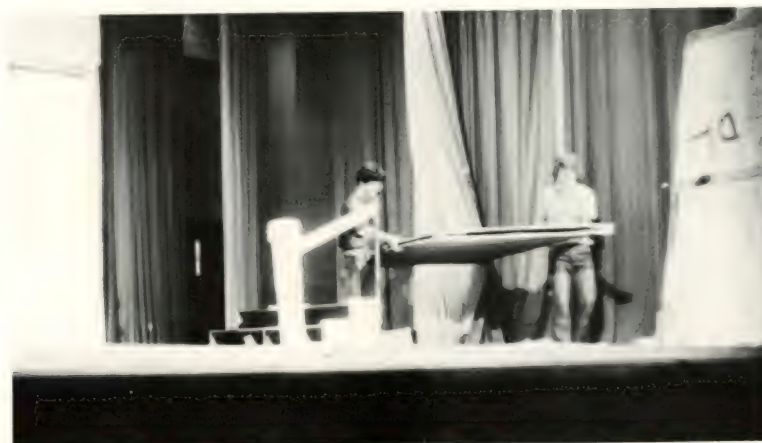

I guess he would!

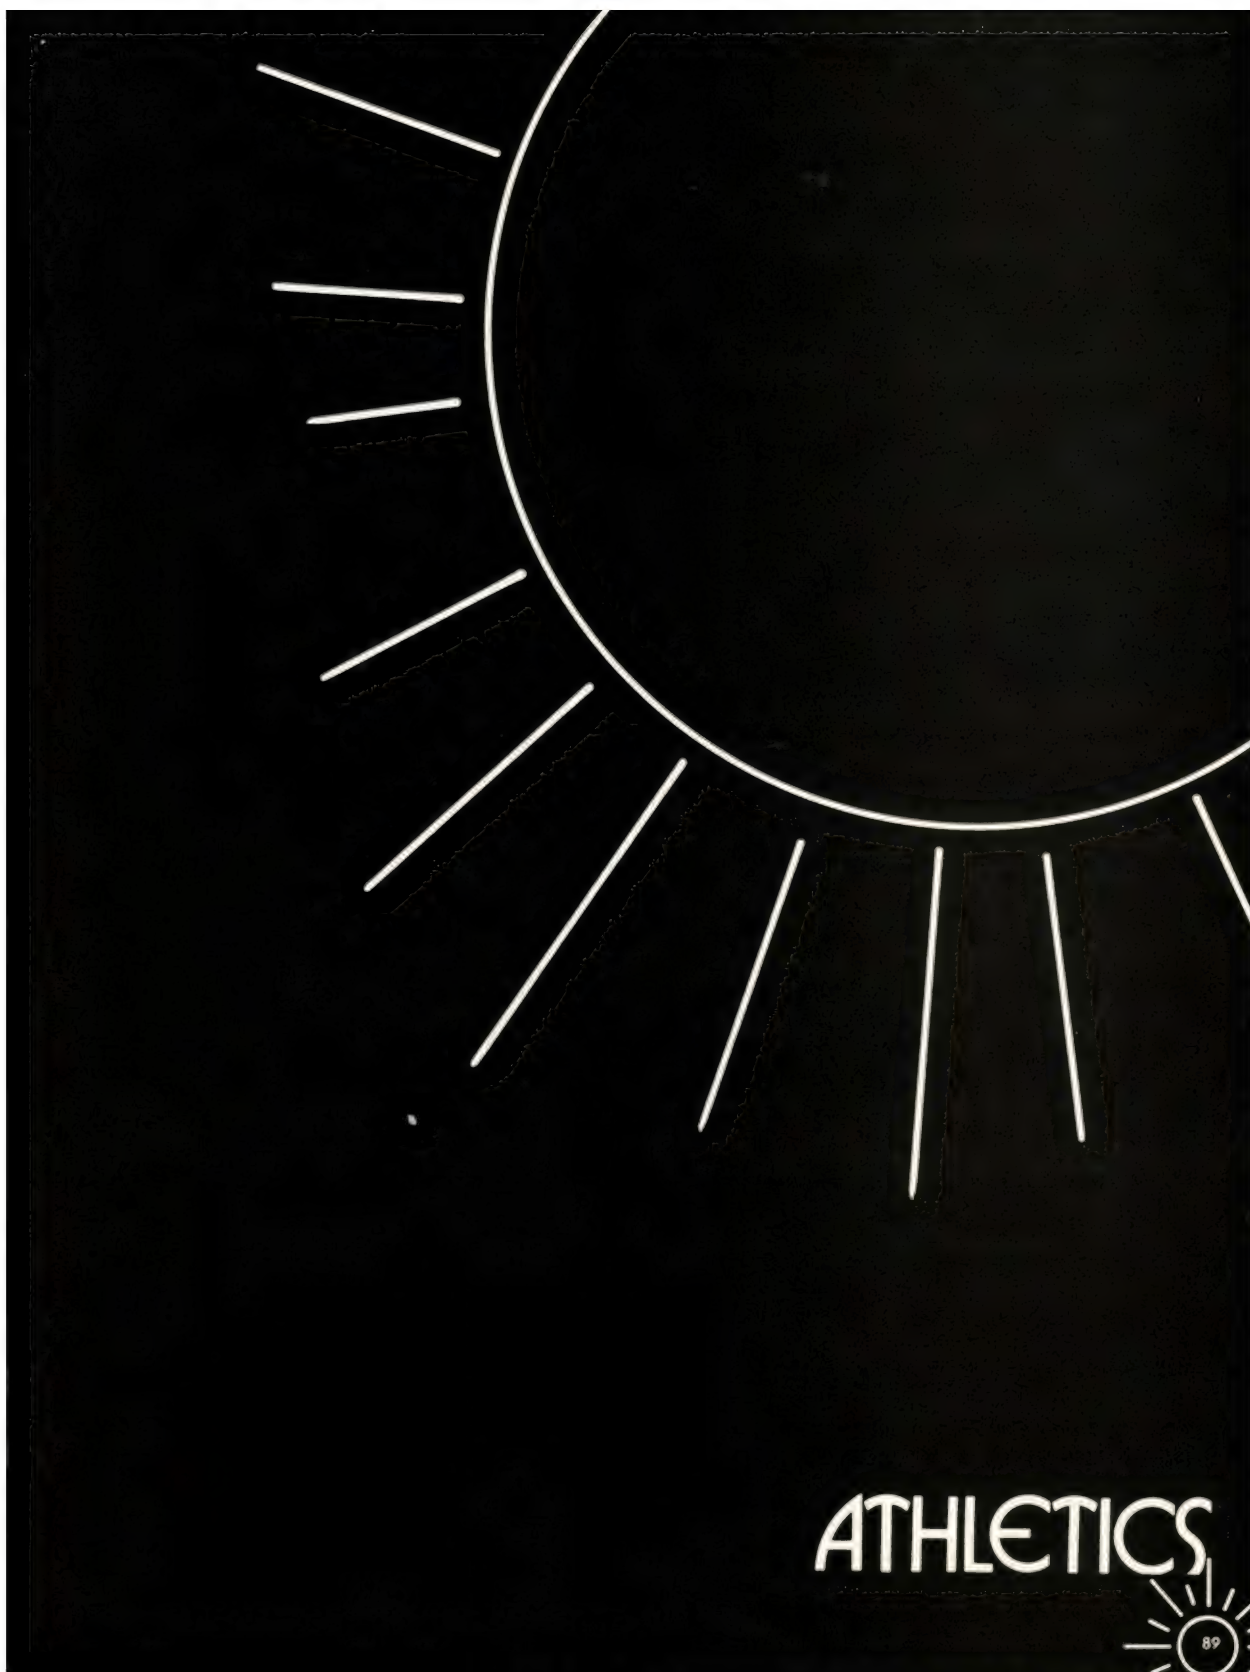

The bus finally retired.

The Real Sunshine of Hiwassee

At Hiwassee the sun shines every day (even Wednesdays). People make it happen — students, faculty, staff, visitors — you can always find a ray of sunshine somewhere, you only have to look. The following section is a special look at Hiwassee Sunshine 1979.

Beauty: A fleeting moment waiting to be captured by the eye and preserved by the camera. Often it goes by unnoticed, but it's always there. The chapel at dawn, the trees covered with snow, a child playing in the grass . . . all longing to be discovered. Beauty: A subtle shape or an ordinary object becoming extraordinary when you look closer. Intricate patterns of a snowflake or formations in the clouds become special, rather than being only a part of the routine of life. Beauty: Something which has been overlooked, then becoming the object of your search.

*You Find
the World
Can Be Beautiful*

Thoughts of today
fading; never the same
A feeling, floating
in the abyss of emotion.
To try to make a parallel with yesterday
Would be insane,
Since one has changed
and forged ahead:
To what, To where, To whom Future seems like
Meadows covered with mist, Which the heat of the day will soon resolve and then reveal
The truth of tomorrow,
the reality of today,
the sadness of all the yesterdays.

Jose Raul Montalvo

*People . . . going places . . . doing things
 . . . studying . . . working . . . playing
 . . . or just sitting around talking . . .
 campus scenes are never void of people
 . . . students cast their permanent shadows across campus during their careers at Hiwassee, leaving a lasting impression of themselves, as they, one by one, leave the college.*

Hiwassee . . . a Place to Live . . . to Love . . . to Grow . . . a Place to Shine!

*There are some things we will always remember . . .
homecoming riots . . . the fountain . . . tearing up the grass in your car . . . Thursday nights
. . . the horses . . . assemblies that you forgot to go to . . . the cafeteria . . . Slave Day . . . the sculptures in the library . . .

*'Now the ears of my ears awake . . .
and now the eyes of my eyes
are opened'*

e.e. cummings

*... a friendly smile and hello
... the international students
add a definite aura to Hiwassee life. By sharing their many cultures and customs with the American students, these people enrich even more
the education and experiences of college life.*
